BASEBALL, AUTOS,
LAWN-TENNIS, GOLFHARBERTSON DEFEATS TYHE,
GETTING TWO FALLS IN AN HOUR

Jack Harbertson, Ogden's noted wrestler, won his match last night over Ted Tyhe of Spokane at the Armory, in two straight falls, after finishing a match the night before at Green River, Wyo., and riding all day yesterday on a train to reach home on schedule time.

Harbertson proved his mastery over the challenger in very neat style, though the man from Washington proved to be not only game to the core, but a good sport, and a mighty fine wrestler who was able to make the local man work as hard as any man who has come here to meet him. Harbertson won the first fall after very hard work for 49 minutes. The second came much easier and the visitor lost in 11 minutes.

Harbertson had the advantage of weight by a dozen pounds or more. He weighed a pound or two over 175, while the man from Spokane weighed only 165. Both men seemed to be in trouble time and again, but, by some mysterious knowledge of the game known only to professional wrestlers, they would free themselves and in a fraction of a second have the other fellow in seeming distress.

The match between the big fellows was a pretty sight and the play of strength and muscles would have charmed an ancient Roman. Both men perspired freely during the match. Harbertson won the first fall by a headlock hold which the victim struggled against for five minutes, thereby proving his wonderful game and strength. He struggled in vain, however, for it was apparent when he was seen to be in the grip of the hold that he was not going to get away.

The second fall came in 11 minutes of fast action, each man going over the head of the other and landing on his feet a number of times, until it seemed like a circus acrobatic feat. The second fall was taken by a reverse body hold.

Harbertson showed his contempt for the foe to hold when he allowed the opponent to take his toes time and again, and even at time held his feet in position for easy access to the toe-hold. Tyhe tried it a number of times, but found it useless. He could bend the toe and foot until it seemed he was wrenching it off, when Harbertson would nonchalantly give a little twist of his body somewhere and the hold would be broken.

The program opened for the evening with an exhibition match. Harold Parry and Lewis Miles, two local amateurs who gave a fine exhibition for 10 minutes which ended in a draw. Both men proved to be very clever and to know a variety of holds. But neither was able to get a fall or anything that looked like a fall in the 10 minutes.

The second feature of the program was a boxing match which was scheduled to go four rounds. This was a bout between Frankie Harris and an individual who was introduced last night by Referee Bert Herrick as "Little Battling Levinsky," but who has been known to Ogden boxing fans in times past when he deigned to entertain in the squared circle as Kid Sammy. Sammy weathered the first round in fair style. By that it can be inferred that Sammy was on his feet and not unduly distressed when the gong signaled for a rest period of one minute. But when Sammy faced the music for another session with his opponent he seemed to show signs of a desire to pick violets in the wild hills somewhere. The second round was about a minute old when something landed with a bang on Sammy's midriff and Sammy found a soft spot on the floor. The referee started to count and engaged in a conversation with himself about something of a private nature after he had nearly counted Sammy out. After settling such matters for the moment, the referee again took up the count and Sammy looked up with hope in his eyes. It was the hope of a man who longs to be far away. When Sammy got on his feet, it was plain that he was not in a fit condition to continue the struggle, although he was not badly injured. So the referee waved Sammy to his corner and gave Harris the decision.

Mohler and Morris. The third event of the program, and it was one that afforded great pleasure for the fans, was a scheduled 20-minute wrestling match between "Bill" Mohler, Ogden's high school star athlete, and a Greek named Carl Morris. Mohler won in seven minutes with a body scissors and arm stretch hold which finished his opponent in a hurry. Mohler had the advantage of weight by 15 pounds. His wonderful strength and cleverness at the game surprised his opponent and the audience as well. The crowd was entirely satisfied with the entertainment furnished and out of the matches last night it is possible that some more matches may be made.

BEES AGAIN ARE DISAPPOINTED

Rain Spoils Game—McCredie Has Cox on List—Morton Also Shows Class.

PORTERVILLE, Cal., March 20.—Weather again played hob today with the plans of the Bees. Arrangements had been made for an exhibition game for this afternoon, which was to have been staged for the entertainment of delegates to the California Building Trades Council convention. A threatened period of sunshine, however, turned into another shower and left the Athletic park in such condition that baseball was out of the question. Members of the squad were out for such activity as was possible this morning and afternoon. There was light work for pitchers at both periods and some batting practice featured during the afternoon.

Two more games are in prospect, one with the San Diego navy boys, and one Sunday in Bakersfield with the drillers.

Cox in Demand. Our friend, the young Mr. Cox from Pasadena, where he set the winter league on fire, already has become a much sought-after man. McCredie saw him play in one of the first games in which he appeared. In the course of that contest Cox crashed out two long hits, pegged like a veteran and ran bases with the speed for which he is noted. The Salt Lake pilot signified him on the spot. Shortly afterward a scout for an eastern league appeared on the winter league circuit, saw Cox in action and handed him a contract. "I'm signed up," he said.

"Where?" was the inquiry. "With McCredie," was the reply. "Well, he sure didn't lose any time, did he?"

McCredie thinks Cox will make one of the best young catchers in the league, and has no intention of letting go his end of the string.

When a manager gets one or two real ones out of a bunch of bushers in a season he feels that he has been doing a good bit of work. McCredie promises to pick off four or five.

Sands, Cox, Smith, Arkenburg and Morton all appear to have the class and, judging from McCredie's comments from the bench, all of them will land unless they later show a very decided reversal of form.

Morton Has Steam. In the game with the Orange Pickers and pitching against his teammates, Morton all but stood some of the best batters among the veterans on their heads. He has a world of steam and good control. If his performance to date is a real indication of what he can do, "I like him because he has a lot of nerve," is the way the chief sizes him up.

McCredie has ordered a few bales of sawdust and intends, if there is ever any fair weather, to put the entire bunch through a hard course of sliding practice. Plain and fancy dives will rule for a portion of each practice. McCredie has indicated, and he has also pointed out that veterans and bushers alike will come in for their share of it.

Playing Sunday, Sullivan accepted eight chances in center field. He took everything that came over the infield, apparently. He was playing with the Pickers in the last stages of the test, and apparently figured he would get all the practice out of it he could.

HERZOG READY TO JOIN GIANTS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20.—Buck Herzog, former captain of the Giants, practiced voluntarily today with the Phillies. Herzog explained that he wanted to be in good condition should the Boston Braves decide to annex him. Buck says he won't play unless he is paid the bonus and extra money he would have received from the Giants.

Pat Moran is annoyed at the holdout situation, because seven of his men failed to return their contracts.

BILL KENWORTHY IS ONCE MORE ANGEL.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 20.—Members of the Angel squad, including Manager Killefer, were a happy lot this afternoon when Kenworthy, former captain and second baseman wired Secretary Weber that he had been strung by the baseball bug and knew that the only place where he could receive treatment was at San Diego. Weber, feeling for the suffering player, immediately wired transportation, and Bill will be one of the fold tomorrow afternoon. The news was the best received so far this spring and came even as a greater surprise than when Ott Crandall joined the squad yesterday.

Kenworthy was one of the most valuable players on the Angel squad last season; in fact, one of the most valuable players in the league. He played in 142 games and hit the ball for the average of .302.

With Kenworthy at second, Killefer will give more of his time to the base situation, which should be filled shortly, if President Powers can persuade the Chicago Cubs to part with one of their extra corner sackers.

The Angel outfield will be as strong, if not stronger, than any other in the league. Ellis, Maggart and Schiek will form the trio. The infield, with the exception of third base, is also strong. Fournier will be stationed at first base. Kenworthy at second and Terry at short. Killefer will try third base himself until another man is obtained. The catching department is well fortified with Bales and Lapan.

Standridge, Fittery and Crandall are the veterans on the pitching staff. Particia and Valencia may be retained, as they have shown great promise, and Killefer things they will be able to stand the pace.

Rain had little effect on the training schedule today, the squad holding three hours' practice.

Crandall worked out with the pitchers today and Killefer was all smiles when he stood behind the veteran and watched him shoot 'em over. Crandall has been working all winter and is in excellent condition. He has more stuff on the ball than the other men who have been working out during the past two weeks.

The Angels will play three games this week-end, meeting the 40th division team Friday and Saturday and the naval training station nine Sunday afternoon.

TWO GAMES ENLIVEN DAY FOR OAKLETS

BOYES SPRINGS, Cal., March 20.—Del Howard's Oakland team enlivened the day by playing two games of baseball, one with itself, divided into first and second divisions, in which Captain Middleton's squad was defeated by the Gardner aggregation, and the second with the local high school nine. Both games gave the entire team a fine chance to regulate their batting eyes.

Howard's high school boys were especially helpful in the pitching of Middleton, but the practice with the stick is what the Oakland boss was after, as he thinks he has something really to brag about in his heavy hitters and is making a specialty in that line that may cause the fans to sit up and take notice when the boys get into action with teams that really set their powers.

Hawkes and Middleton each made three vicious hits during the Yag game, just to show what they can do in that line.

SEALS AND MARINES WILL TANGLE TWICE

FRESNO, March 20.—With the return of blue skies and balmy breezes, Charley Graham's Seals cavorted about the training grounds today like a pack of frisky young lambs. Every jack tars, who will arrive Friday night at good hard work, so that when the time came for the lay-off everybody needed a rub down.

Special attention was given to batting exercises in the afternoon, at which, of course, the fielders were kept good and busy.

The big event of the week is to be the brace of games with Duffy Lewis' jack tars, who will arrive Friday night. The whole town is waiting to give the boys in blue a great demonstration.

The Seals are certain to put up a good stiff opposition, for every man now seems to be in the pink of condition.

ROY MITCHELL WILL REPORT TO TIGERS

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—Roy Mitchell, the unluckiest pitcher in the Coast league last season, and who lost more extra-inning games than any two other twirlers in the league, will report this season. Manager Essick thought for a time Mitchell would arrive here in a few days.

Long was out in uniform today for the first time and he delighted Essick with the way he hit the ball. Long has no extra weight to take off. All he needs to do is to get his arm and wind in shape.

HICKMAN JOINS DODGERS.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 20.—Dave Hickman, who probably will supplant Zack Wheat in right field this season, arrived at the Brooklyn camp today. Hickman went through his first workout this morning in right field.

Wheat, it seems, is determined to stay in Missouri, so Hickman will be counted on to fill the vacancy.

SHREVEPORT BEATS BROWNS.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 20.—Score: St. Louis Americans.....2 6 2 Shreveport (Texas league).....5 9 0 Batteries—Lowmilk, Davenport, Gallia, Rogers and Nunamaker; Munsell, Napier, Snyder, Duffy and Wells.

REFUSE OFFER OF

Promoters of Willard-Fulton Match Turn Down $125,000—Articles Signed.

CHICAGO, March 20.—The Jess Willard-Fred Fulton heavyweight championship match is officially on. Articles of agreement calling for a twenty-round bout to a decision to be held on the afternoon of July 4, were signed today after a four-hour conference, in which J. C. Miller, Jess Willard and Mike Collins, the latter representing Fred Fulton, took part.

These men, together with Fulton, will meet next Tuesday to go through the signing again, this time, however, for flashlight pictures. This was the information Miller and Collins gave out tonight after the conference.

Just where the fight will be held is a matter of fact, for it is now open to the highest bidder, but the promoter who gets it will have to go higher than $125,000. This bid was made today by I. H. Herk, local theatrical man and sportsman, who promoted the Gotch-Hackenschmidt and other big wrestling contests here. Herk has purchased a half interest in Mike Collins' Minneapolis club, and intends to construct a big open-air arena there. When informed that his bid had been declined, he intimated he would raise it, possibly to $150,000.

"If I can't get more than $125,000 for this match, I'll take it to my ranch in Oklahoma and put it on there, if I can get the governor to allow us to stage it. We have 150 men of wealth in that section, men who would pay $1000 a seat for the fight," said Miller.

"I'm for holding the match at Bliss, Okla., Miller's ranch," said Collins, "but if we can't stage it there, I'd like to see Minneapolis get it. It's a great fight town and would draw a tremendous house."

According to Collins, New York, Milwaukee or any other town with ten round boxing with no decisions are all out of the running.

Kentucky Fight Bill Fails. FRANKFORT, Ky., March 20.—A senate bill which would have legalized boxing in Kentucky failed to pass the lower house of the general assembly, 14 to 42, here tonight.

The measure was designed to permit fifteen-round, no-decision contests under the supervision of a commission of three members to be appointed by the governor.
